

Exhibition: The Impact of the Russian Revolution on World War One (1917-22)

A selection of the exhibition panels, with inset photograph of the curator Professor Mary Davis speaking at the exhibition launch at Marx Memorial Library on 1 May 2017
Photograph of Mary Davis courtesy of Karl Weiss

Opening times: Tuesday 20 - Saturday 24 June 2017
14.00-17.00 daily
(Friday 23 June – until 19.00)

Venue: Society for Co-operation in Russian & Soviet Studies
320 Brixton Road, London, SW9 6AB
Telephone: 020 7274 2282

This special touring exhibition, curated by Mary Davis, Visiting Professor of Labour History at Royal Holloway, University of London, celebrates the centenary of the Russian Revolution. The exhibition provides an outline of the key events of 1917, as well as the wars of intervention, the influence of the Revolution in Europe, the attitude of the British Government, and British labour movement responses.

Exhibition funded by the Heritage Lottery Fund.